

Telstra systems down

Friday, 11 July 2008

Thanks Elliot for sending this in...

Telstra's registering and activation has crashed this morning, meaning customers have had to sign up by paper. All customers will be signed up as soon as the system is back online and are being allocated iPhones. Customers are now leaving stores empty-handed, with the promise of being able to pick their iPhone 3G up as soon as the system is back online.
